DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings were received on 09/11/2007. These drawings are not acceptable because in Fig. 4, reference character "A8" should be --8A--.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. It is unclear as to how and when the rocker lever is moveable along the fixed bolt to define a moveable fulcrum. When exactly does the rocker lever move along the fixed bolt? Does the rocker lever move along the fixed bolt automatically? Or does the rocker lever need to be moved manually along the fixed bolt?

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The written description insufficiently explains how and when the rocker lever is moveable along the fixed bolt to define a moveable fulcrum.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1 and 2 recite the limitation "said rocker lever or bracket (8)". The scope of the claims are rendered indefinite because it is unclear whether or not said bracket refers back to "a bracket (17)" in claim 1. If both brackets are the same, it then becomes unclear exactly which limitations are associated with the rocker lever and which limitations are associated with the bracket. If both brackets are not the same, they need to be distinguished to avoid any confusion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5944150 (Hikari) in view of U.S. Patent No. 3983971 (Kawai).

Regarding claim 1, Hikari discloses in Fig. 6 a caliper brake (14) for a brake disc comprising a brake body (13) mounted to float on a fixed bolt (35), a caliper (12) for straddling the periphery of a brake disc (11), and a solenoid (34) to magnetically attract a spring-biased armature disc (28) against said brake body (13), said armature disc (28) and the axially opposite portion of said caliper (12) having friction linings (21) thereon to engage the two faces of brake disc (11).

Regarding claim 1, Hikari does not disclose a dual-arm rocker lever (as best understood; see 112 rejections above).

Regarding claim 1, Kawai discloses in Figs. 7-10 a brake comprising a dual-arm rocker lever (268) (as best understood; see 112 rejections above) that, as the brake disengages, rocker lever (268) provides an essentially equal (as broadly recited) air gap (S1, S2) on either side of brake disc (216) (Fig. 9).

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to modify the caliper brake as taught by Hikari with a dual-arm rocker lever as taught by Kawai. The suggestion/motivation for doing so would have been to provide a simple, efficient way of ensuring a proper clearance between the brake disc and the friction linings when the brake is disengaged.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 2 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. See new 112 rejections above.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
